♥♥ with her lotus sanitizing system, girlawhirl goes chemical-free

Nov 1, 2007

Girlawhirl is fed up with nasty chemicals. As she reads more and more about the environment, she sees that she's surrounded by more chemicals than she ever thought possible. She knew they were outside, but now she's come to grips with the fact that they're in her home and on her food. She's already switched to organic cleaning supplies to help her get the muck off her surfaces, but with the heavy cold and flu season about to descend upon her, Girlawhirl wanted a way to disinfect without reverting back to chemical laden cleaners...

Girlawhirl uses her new lotus® Sanitizing System, by Tersano™ to turn plain old tap water into a super-oxygenated, germ fighting – and most importantly – chemical-free disinfectant.

Using its patented Oxyshield® technology, lotus creates a mini-electrical discharge that super-oxygenates water (a.k.a. infuses a third Oxygen molecule). The extra oxygen molecule does the disinfecting dirty work for her. When bacteria are exposed to super-oxygenated molecules, they absorb them and then the extra oxygen molecule breaks away from the other two O's and the bacteria explode – decimating all those nasty toxins.

Girlawhirl just fills her lotus water bottle, places it on the base and lets it charge away. In mere minutes she's ready to go. But she has to act quickly, because the water only stays super-charged for 15 minutes. When it comes to heavy stains, Girlawhirl still sticks with her organic cleaners, but to purify her area, she's always sure to follow up with her lotus spray bottle.

And to make sure all of her fresh fruits and veggies are completely chemical free, Girlawhirl adds the multi-purpose bowl to the lotus base, places her fruits and vegetables in, fills it with water and lets lotus do its thing. She can give her meat, poultry and seafood the lotus treatment too – but for protein, she adds it to the water after it's already been super-oxygenated.

The best part – at least in Girlawhirl's mind – is it's self cleaning! She just runs the cycle without anything in the bowl and the lotus is once again completely sanitized.

So for germ-free living without any harsh chemicals polluting her space, Girlawhirl's got a brand new bowl of tricks.
